MONODY
On the Death of Abraham Lincoln.

BY S. C. MERCER.

Soft breathe the vernal winds, the sky is fair,
And April's fragrance scents the dewy air,
And heaven looks down on earth with eyes as mild
As a young mother's on her sleeping child,
Jealous least aught should break her infant's calm,
And lulling its soft slumbers with a psalm.
So soft, so holy, comes the forest hymn,
From yon far hill-tops, misty, blue and dim,
While war's discordant tumult seems to cease
To the sweet music of returning peace.

Yet where the fount of joy in crystal springs,
Some venomed asp its rankling poison flings,
And where the violets shed their fragrant breath
The night-shade pours the blistering dews of death.

What bloody phantom with a brow of wrath
Stalks in the van of our triumphal path,
And o'er our banners flings a funeral veil,
Till heaven grows black and mortal cheeks grow pale?
'Twas in the halls of mirth, a gala night,
Bright rays o'er joyous thousands shed their light,
The nation's Father sat amid the throng,
Relaxed his brow and heard the festal song;
He dreams not of conspiracy, nor sees
Above his head the sword of Damocles;
Wide ope the sepulchre its marble jaws,
All nature seems to make a breathless pause;
The deadly aim is made—the death-shot flies,
And Freedom's martyr passes to the skies.

Oh, Statesman, Hero, Patriot, Friend and Sire,
Now the pale tenant of a funeral pyre,
Whose red right hand four years has held the rod,
The minister of Freedom and of God.
Let with the rod the blooming olive held,
While the dark deluge of rebellion swelled
And thundered round our ark—an Argosy
More precious than the jewels of the sea,
And still with out-stretched arms essayed to save
The ship wrecked seamen from the yawning wave—
Thy love was strong as woman's—who like thee
Their interceding angel now shall be?

A genial wit, a homely native sense,
Keen to truth train studied eloquence,
A quiet courage to defend the right,
And leave to heaven the issue of the fight;
A will of adament, which seemed to be
The very flower of maiden modesty,
A conscience, holding truth of greater worth
Than all the crowns and treasure of the earth;
A love, whose strong affections seemed to bind,
In one, the happiness of all mankind,
These are the jewels whose celestial flame,
Shall light with quenchless glow round Lincoln's name,
The virtues which shall make his memory dear
While justice reigns in you eternal sphere.

And millions shall lament, with honest grief,
The People's friend, and Freedom's fallen chief,
The huntsman shall forget the eager chase,
And pause to wipe his weather-beaten face,
The daring sailor on the distant sea,
Shall shed a tear drop to his memory,
The widow's tears shall quench her cottage-fire,
The soldier's orphan mourns his second sire.
There needs no glittering trappings of the tomb,
No martial dirge, nor hearse with nodding plume,
To tell their grief but words devoid of art,
Show how this stroke has pierced the Nation's heart.

Precious the tears shall be, the Nation weeps,
And sacred be the soil where Lincoln sleeps.
His fame shall be the jewel of the West,
As a rich pearl on Beauty's throbbing breast.
Mourn, O, ye Mountains!—altars of the sky—
Fit monuments of him who cannot die;
Mourn, loud Atlantic! let thy thunder-dirge,
Chant the sad requiem with Pacific's surge,
Mourn, O, New England! on thy granite base,
Mourn, Illinois, thy desolate dwelling place;
Kentucky mourn! thy second God-like son
Sleeps in the dust, life's duty nobly done;
Mourn, Tennessee! the Hero of the Age
Sleeps with the Lion of the Hermitage;
Chanted the melancholy song shall be,
By all thy streams which hasten to the sea,
While Nashville's echoing wall of cedared hills,
With mournful cadence all the valley fills.

Can't Take Care of Himself.

In a recent speech, ex-Governor Wright, of Indiana, said:

"As to the cant about the negro's ability to take care of himself, he had there facts to relate, and he would do so without comment: In 1862 the Rebel Legislature of South Carolina issued a committee to inquire into the expediency of enslaving the 5,000 free negroes of Charleston. The committee reported against it, and stated that these 5,000 free negroes paid into the treasury of Charleston annually $25,000, and that their property amounted to $1,500,000. Out of that amount of property $300,000 worth of it was composed of slaves. That the 9,000 free negroes of New Orleans in 1860 were worth as much per capita as the white people of Louisiana; that these free negroes had their own schools, their own benevolent societies, &c. These facts he contended proved that the free negro was capable of taking care of himself. He also stated that a lady who owned 500 negroes in 1860 told him that she had lost them all but 200 by the beginning of 1864. That year she made a contract with them to cultivate her farm on the shares, and that last year, under such a system, where the negro was working for himself as well as for his mistress, the 200 made her more money than 500 had done in slavery.

☞Seven thirties were sold on Wednesday to the amount of $7,261,300.

Eloquent Tribute.

The following characteristic, pointed, and eloquent remarks of Hon. Benjamin H. Brewster, at the meeting of the members of the Philadelphia Bar, at the United States Court Room, on the Monday after the murder of the President, are well worthy of preservation:

"Mr. B. H. Brewster was the next speaker. We can do no justice to the remarks of Mr. Brewster, which were characterized by deep feeling in their conception, and were delivered with the elegant impressiveness which marks this gentleman's manner of speaking. He observed that the Bar of Philadelphia had long been an eminent one, distinguished in the history of civilized law; distinguished as a body for loyalty, for support of law, of order, of Government and the Constitution. He pointed to the tablet of Bushrod Washington, who so long occupied the seat now occupied by the honorable chairman, and alluded to his virtues, "worthy of his august name." It was appropriate that this Bar, while joining all public professions, and private individuals in expressing their horror for the assassination of Mr. Lincoln, should pay a special tribute to one who was himself a member of their own profession; a lawyer, a good lawyer, a lawyer read deeply in the principles of constitutional jurisprudence; one who had sealed with his blood his devotion to its sacred obligations. From no public body could a tribute come so feelingly as from the ministers of justice; the order of the State's collected will. Mr. Lincoln had begun life a poor boy, a very poor boy, until his eighteenth year gaining his living by employments in the rougher and more coarse departments of life. He then began the study of law, and by his clear, simple, straightforward cast of mind and character, soon came to be respected in a profession of which integrity is the element of success; a profession in which men ambitious of doing good can always be respectable. "In May, 1861," said Mr. Brewster, "being then somewhat known in connection with a political party in Pennsylvania, I was invited to Washington. I understood—though I do not remember that the invitation so declared—that a conference was wished with me about the views of that great party; in was desired to know, so far as I could speak, what was the temper of men in the North belonging to it. The invitation coming from an official source, I went. I expected to see in Mr. Lincoln a rough, harsh, ill-mannered, and repulsive man. The force of party associations led me to such an expectation. Never was I more gratefully disappointed. I found, not indeed a person marked by those adventitious refinements of manner characteristic of a gentleman born and bred in opulent circles of our Eastern cities, but I found a man kind, benevolent, modest, gracious, unpretending, humble; considerate of others more than of himself. An intelligent man of course, he was, and he was a well-informed one. As a lawyer he spoke to me of law, and of the jurisprudence of my own State, specially. I found that he had a perfectly good conception of that singular system mixed of law and equity which belongs to Pennsylvania only, and which few men out of Pennsylvania can comprehend at all. He referred to a leading case on this subject in the fifth volume of Mr Binney's Reports, Calhoun vs. Snyder, and spoke particularly of the opinion of one of our judges. I had more than one interview with him. I left him with a profound conviction not only of his possession of the whole line of manly virtues, but that the gentler graces of humanity and good will adorned and crowned them all.—It was quite a long time after this, when in a foreign land—where I had gone, for the perfect re-establishment of my health, temporarily interrupted by a severe illness—on coming to my hotel one day the servant handed me a letter. I know its superscription. I opened it with pride, but not without some tremor of anxiety. It was a letter from the President, sent to me in Paris, thanking me for some information which it had been in my humble power to send the Government at home, and made more touching from the interest he expressed in my own health and my perfect restoration to it. That was Mr. Lincoln."—Mr. Brewster, appealing to the Hon. Mr. Thayer, as having common knowledge with him, went on to narrate one or two incidents personally known to him of the President's most excellent heart, and did it in a way which moistened every eye. What, then, shall we say of this calamity? This calamity do I call it? This disgrace—this disgrace to our nation—disgrace rather to the human race itself. The history of the world records nothing like it. The head of a great nation, modestly seated beside his wife, unattended, as it was his preference to be, by guards or state of any kind, enjoying with a grateful people an innocent amusement, is shot down by the fire of an assassin who thus vindicates a rebel's politics! "Then you, and I, and all of us, fell down while bloody treason flourished over us."—Mr. Lincoln was no tyrant. He represented no nobles, no favored class. He sought to establish no hierarchy. He was not 'ambitious.' He was a man of the people; a man who was seeking to maintain and perpetuate the equal Government for all which our fathers gave us; a modest man, accessible to all, ever gracious, humane, benevolent, and benificent. What language can express the baseness of this act? The assassination of Cæsar may have had excuse. Ravaillac was stimulated by religious fury. Hatfield was a madman. Yet such is party feeling that it will falsify history. It will perpetuate a lie. This we may of course expect. The silver chord is indeed loosed, and the golden bowl is broken. The doors are shut in the streets; the mourners go about; the daughters of music are brought low; the dust of our departed friend and father shall return to earth, but his spirit shall return unto God who gave it."

Lloyd Garrison at Charleston.

On Saturday, the 15th ult., General Saxton called a mass meeting of the freedmen and women of Charleston. By eleven o'clock fully ten thousand assembled upon Citadel Square and in Zion's Curch.

I walked to the square with William Lloyd Garrison. Think of the great pioneer Abolitionist of Boston in the streets of Charleston! As Mr. Garrison entered the square he was introduced to about two thousand slave children by Mr. James Redpath, Superintendent of Public Instruction. When the children were told who Mr. Garrison was they surronded him, threw up their hats or caps, caught hold of him, fell down and over each other, and sent up shout after shout of such welcome and greeting as I may safely say were never before witnessed on the soil of South Carolina. The enthusiasm of the children was fully shared by the thousands of assembled adults. We worked our way to Zion's Church, where the main meeting was held. It was estimated that four thousand people were within the building, and that three-fourths were formerly slaves.

Gen. Saxton presided, assisted by Major M. R. Delany (colored.) Gen. Saxton was very warmly greeted by the colored people. He was presented by William Dickerson, through the hands of his daughters, with two very beautiful boquets of flowers. Mr. Dickerson was a slave under the new dispensation, also his two daughters who had been sold from him, but now, through the primary instrumentality of Mr. Garrison, he believed had been restored to him with freedom for all. The presentation was accompanied by a brief address, which surprised and astonished every Northerner who heard it. For accuracy, ability and eloquence it could not have been excelled by any graduate of Harvard. Of such material have the chivalry made slaves—a man of whom Judge Kelly, of Philadelphia, fitly ranked in original ability as a compeer of Calhoun. Mr. Dickerson, it seems, has been hitherto distinguished as a slave among slaves for his power and eloquence as a speaker.

Mr. Garrison spoke briefly. His reception by the immence meeting of freed-people was marked by an almost intense cordiality of feeling, and presented such a scene as will not be forgotten. There stood the liberator, who began his work more than thirty years ago, and before him were thousands of the liberated. Mr Garrison alluded to his past labors, to then and now; but said unto God be all the praise for the good results achieved. He addressed excellent words of counsel to the freed people, exhorting them to show their appreciation of freedom by industry, frugality, and in striving for education for themselves and their children.—Charleston Cor. N. Y. Trib.

The Vindication of Justice.

Is justice revenge? Is the punishment of crime essential, or obligatory? Has law any attribute of permanence of sanctity, of supremacy over generations and rulers? Or is it but the sliding scale of the impulse of the hour? Is impartial equity the essential element of preventative as well as retributive justice, or is that majesty which man tremble at as a vicegerent of Deity in the soul, to wit, like the effrontery of a bully, before gigantic crime? In short, is the law of crime ours, or God's? By what authority dare we take, by what authority dare we forbear to take, life for life.

Questions like these press upon the mind, when false conscienceless philanthrophy sets up the catch-words "no more bloodshed," as murderers soaked to the marrow with innocent blood are falling within reach of tardy justice. They are the questions which are to have an answer from the men of this nation now.

The plea of "no more bloodshed" is touching and potent, yet who thinks of appealing to it when we see the murderer on the drop, overwhelmed with the anguish of his fate? No one wishes to see his exoution. Every righthearted man would fain see justice reconciled with mercy to him here, if possiple, and gladly finds the least grounds for hope in sovereign mercy for him hereafter. But we are made the sad submissive ministers of a certain measure of justice here with a fatal penalty upon ourselves if we neglect it. There are high reasons for this, but highest of all is the necessity of keeping the soul of society alive to the sense of justice, without which disorganization is sure.

Jeff. Davis and the other original conspirators have committed the most monstrous crime, and in its consequences, the most terrible ever witnessed. If justice made a claim on earth, it claims these men for punishment. Of course the blow would be terrible and no humane man could help a degree of commiseration. What then? Shall we therefore spare ourselves? Which is the nobler the neceesary sacrifice—justice to feeling, or feeling to justice.—N. Y. Tribune.

THE PLAGUE AT ST. PETERSBURG.—A special telegram to the London Times, dated Berlin, April 6, says: "The plague continues at St. Petersburg. The total number of cases is 10,000, and deaths 2,000. There are 100 cases a day. Forty physicians are dead. The Ismalloff barracks are converted into a hospital. Precautionary measures are taken in Moscow, where the food and lodgings of the laboring class are inspected by the police. It is not cholera, but plague, with dilated pupils, carbuncles and pestilential bubo." Dr. Murchison, of the London Fever Hospital, in a letter to the Times, says the public need be under little apprehensions as to the importation of the Russian epidemic into England. The more formidable of the two diseases composing it is there already. During the last three years true typhus has been prevailing among the poor of London to an extent rarely, if ever before known. The British Government having telegraphed to its officials in Russia for information relative to the epidemic in that country, the Ambassador at St. Petersburg, in a telegram dated the 5th inst., says: "The fever is contagious, and in England is called the relapsing or famine fever, also the remittant or bilious typhoid fever. It was unknown in Russia, until eight months ago."

☞Some of the Virginia rebels, after having been beaten in the field, propose to come back and obey the laws of the land, if West Virginia is reconnected to the East and matters restored to the old status. They might as well make a condition precedent to their submission to the national authority, some such natural impossibility as the leveling of their own Alleghenies, and the turning back to the sources the currents of their own rivers. West Virginia is held by her loyal population, and East Virginia will be held by the Federal Government until its politicians and its people see that their truest interest is in obedience to the Constitution and the laws. Let them see the reward for obedience in the submission and prosperity of Maryland.—Wash. Chronicle.

The Marriage of Priests.

A Turin correspondent says: "A great victory has been achieved in the Senate. The law on civil marriages has been voted by a large majority in spite of the efforts of a minority which spared no means to obtain its rejection, or at least, to delay its coming into operation. The most remarkable feature of this long discussion was the attitude of Mgr. di Giacomo, Bishop of Alifa, who opposed all the amendments moved by the minority, thus implicitly adopting the substitution of civil for religious marriage.—One most important amendment, tending to declare all persons in holy orders incapable of contracting marriage, was rejected by a large majority, and Mgr. di Giacomo was one of its most eager opponents. The question of the marriage of priests, which has given rise to so many contrary interpretations in France, seems to be decided in Italy in the affirmative by the rejection of the amendment tending to declare them incapable of marriage. Our Italian jurisconsults seem all to agree on this point. In France the tribunals have nearly all declared priests incapable of marriage, because, by an article in the concordat, the registrars of marriages are bound to observe the ecclesiastical laws which forbid marriage to persons engaged in the higher orders of the priesthood. Here there is nothing of the kind. All the concordats have been annulled by the overthrow of the dynasties which resigned in Italy before 1859; besides, our concordats could not provide for the present case, as hitherto everything relating to marriage has been subject to the exclusive jurisdiction of the church. The vote made a profound impression on the Senate—never before has such agitation prevailed in that grave assembly."

BALSAM OF WEDLOCK.—The Arabs possess a wise practice in proceeding for divorce. When married people seek a separation the Cadi orders them to live for some time with a discreet one austere man of the tribe, that the latter man examine their life and see on which side the blame lies. The elderly man makes a report at the expiration of the appointed time, and this report is the foundation on which the Cadi builds his judgment of divorce. Experience has demonstrated that there is no better method of restoring peace in families. The husband and wife put thus upon their good behavior, resume the manners of court-days. Each strive to be more amiable than the other, to convince the "elder of Israel" that it is not this one's faults if the honeymoon changed its quarter. Old love is awakened and the pair that went to the approved mad's tent snarling like cat and dog, return home cooing like doves.

☞DICK TURNER, the note turnkey of Libby prison, is securely locked up in the most dismal, subterranean dungeon of that place of torture. There is no pity felt for him in Richmond. A correspondent who saw the cruel hearted man, describes him pale as leprosy, his beard whitening, his deficient teeth ajar, and his eyes full of terror. He is now as mean and cringing in his behaviour, as, in power, he was insolent and cruel. When turnkey, he shot men dead with a revolver, who came to the window for air and light, kicked and knocked others, and took delight in augmenting the untold miseries of the poor prisoners under his charge. He has heard, in his lothsome cell, that the soldiers have decreed his death, so soon as they are fully assured of his identity, and his pleading for mercy are presented to all who come near him; but he pleads to hearts of stone.—Cin. Com.

THE PRESIDENT'S PRIVATE SECRETARY.—Col Browning, who for the last four or five years has been the confidential secretary of President Johnson, is still acting as his private Secretary.

☞The records of Libby Prison, from its commencement to its close, have been secured by Gen. Weitzel, and will be preserved for future reference. They show the date and home of every man who entered there, and the date of his death or removal. The letter-books of the rebel treasury department have also been secured and will be sent to Washington.

☞Hilton R. Helper, author of the "Impending Crisis," has returned to his home in North Carolina, from which he was banished by order of Hon. Edward Stanley, the Military Governor.

Religious.

—We find in a Presbyterian paper an essay entitled "Truth Reconciled," in which the doctrines of the great schools of Protestant Christianity, Calvanistic and Arminian, are stated in a concise form. Without entering into the arguments pro. and con., we simply give the doctrines as we find them: The writer says as tried by the original teachings, it is a very remarkable and a very hopeful fact, that there is no prominent evangelical Church which holds exclusively the doctrine of Calvin or Arminius. The Westminster Assembly adopted essentially the Canons of the Synod of Dort (1618.) These Canons are in five chapters and relate to five points: first, particular and unconditional election; second, particular redemption, or the limitation of the saving effects of Christ's death to the elect only; third, total depravity and total moral inability of man as a fallen creature; fourth, the irresistibility of divine grace; fifth, the final perseverence of the saints. The followers of Arminius deny these teachings in whole or in part, as drawn in the following formula of belief: First, Election consists simply in the foreknowledge of God, and is not absolute and unconditional. Second, Christ died for all men, and His atonement is sufficient for all men. Third, Every individual is invited to partake of His grace. Fourth, Divine grace is offered to make the will comply with the invitation of mercy; but this grace may be resisted and rendered ineffectual by the sinner's perversity. Fifth, Saints may fall from the state of grace in which they are placed by the operations of the Holy Spirit.

—It seems incredible that Rationalism exists to such an extent as it does in this country, and yet we find in an able religious journal the fact established that a minister of a Congregational Church in one of the cities of New Hampshire, recently inveighed against "water baptism" as he called it, declaring that it was not properly a Christian ordinance, but a relic of Judaism and other symbolic faiths. In the same sermon, he spoke against the custom of "saying grace" at the table. And it is affirmed he preached a discourse highly eulogistic of Tom Paine on the last anniversary birth-day of that infidel.

—It is rarely the case that we have an opportunity to note instances like the following: Last Sunday, the Rev. Dr. Adams, of the Madison Square Presbyterian Church, New York city, preached in the pulpit of the Episcopal Church of the Ascension on Fifth Avenue, by invitation of the Rector, Rev. John Cotton Smith, D. D. The Rector and the Rev. Dr. Muhlenberg participated in the services.

—Colenso is still a Bishop. When he promulgated his infidel sentiments, the Bishop of Capetown, South Africa, assuming to be his Metropolitan, had him arraigned and tried for heresy, of which he was found guilty, and for which he was deposed. Colenso appealed to Queen Victoria, as the head of the Church of England, and the Privy Council have decided that the sentence was null and void, and that Colenso is still a Bishop.

—The avowal of the late Unitarian Convention that we have "no Mediator," has awakened intense feeling in the evangelical denominations of this country. Even secular papers speak of these avowals as more cold-blooded and disgusting than the ravings of professed infidelity.

—In the sermon of Dr Freeman Clarke, of Boston, before the late Unitarian Convention, Henry Ward Beecher received a very equivocal compliment, that "he was doing more than fifty ordinary men for the spread of vital liberal Christianity.

—The General Assembly of the O. S. Presbyterian Church will hold its next meeting in the First Presbyterian Church, Pittsburg, on the 18th of May, and will be opened with a sermon by the Rev. James Wood, D. D., Moderator of the last Assembly.

—Quite an extensive revival has occurred in the Presbyterian church at Clarkesville, Mercer county, Pa. Upwards of ninety presented themselves for prayers, of these, about seventy have expressed a hope in Christ.

—It was grtifying to note that the first Protestant Church at Naples was inaugurated recently. The ground was given by Garibaldi to the Protestant residents in that city.

—Hon. Amos Kendall, for so many years a distinguished politican, was babtized on a recent Sabbath in the fellowship of the Cavary Baptist Church, in Washington City.

—During the past year the Methodist Episcopal churches in the Boston district have discharged not less than $108,000 of debts.

—The Augsburg Gazette says that in the Holy City 800,000 f. are spent annually in masses, while the budget of public instruction amounts to only 214,000 f.

—The Committee (U. P. Church) appointed to prepare a new version of the Psalms have so far progressed as to be able to publish a good part of their work.

—The New York Observer learns that there are twice as many Jews in the city of New York as in all Palestine.

Agricultural.

Sorghum for Fodder.

I have seen several articles lately in your paper on the culture of corn for fodder, and I have been surprised that no one has tried sorghum for the same purpose. In the Patent Office report, there is an account from the south of France, which states that forty-eight and a half tons (green, of course) have been raised on one acre of ground. How much it will lose in drying I have no idea; but this much I do know, that, sown broadcast at the rate of two bushels to the acre, it will yield more feed than anything I have ever tried in the way of grass. I have tried it for two years, and have found the yield truly surprising.—I should think more than two tons of dry feed, but, never having weighed it, I cannot speak positively, though I am perfectly satisfied that it is far superior to anything I have ever tried, not even excepting Hungarian grass, so much lauded some years ago.

Sow it in good corn ground, as early as it can be put in good order; harrow smooth, the finer the better; and when the seed is sown, go over it with a bush; it must not be covered deeply, and if the seed is good, it needs no soaking. Let those who think so favorably of corn fodder try the sorghum, and I do not think they will bother with corn.

My horses and cows prefer it to any kind of feed I can give them. I have tried them repeatedly, and they will leave the best timothy for the sorghum, and eat it up clean. The blades we pull from the cane we grow for syrup are preferred by the stock to corn blades, and they will devour it with the greatest avidity. By sowing early, it can be cut with a strong cradle at the best time for curing properly. After being cut a few days, I have it tied up in bundles and cocked the same as wheat or oats. A large quantity of seed sown to the acre prevents the stalks growing too thick, which renders it easy to cure.—Cor. Country Gentleman.

Milking Cows.

Cows should always be treated kindly, and as far as possible have the same milker. A fractious man should not be allowed to handle a spirited cow. Kindness and gentleness are always best—beating and pounding should not be tolerated. If a cow or heifer press s in kicking under kind treatment, take a small rope and quietly fasten it around the opposite fore foot, and thence bring it over her back so as to hang by the milker. When she kicks again, without saying a word, draw her foot up to her body. You can now handle her as you please. She will struggle to release her foot but to no purpose, and will soon crouch to the floor. Then let her get up again, and pet her a little. If she kicks again, repeat the operation as often, and you will soon find she will not move a foot while you are milking unless there is some irritating cause like sore teats or sharp finger nails.

Disposition of the Soil.

Soil has constant tendency to mellow and improve itself. Winter aids it in this respect. So does the heat of summer. The particles are the more finely divided by the aid of those two. Water has also an effect. Manure has a still farther effect; mechanically it helps the soil. But the plow and cultivator help more to divide the soil than any other source, or all the sources combined. The plow, the harrow, the cultivator, as well as the spade and the hoe, are the grand amplements to divide and mellow your soil—in other words, dissolve it.—The deeper you work it the better. But work it not too wet; neither too dry; but when it falls most apart, without packing. To grease your ground is to kill it. Aid nature then, in mellowing your soil.

Killing Thistles.

A correspondent of the Canadian Farmer, who has failed in destroying thistles either by mowing or ordinary summer fallowing, has succeeded by repeated plowings. He says:

"Four years ago I plowed four acres eight times, and have not seen one thistle on that piece of ground since, excepting where they branch out from the fence. The year following I plowed a field six times over, and a few old ones come up the year after. Last summer I plowed nine acres three times, and cultivated it several times with a wide-pointed cultivator. The last plowing was done about the end of September. I have walked over it since, and have not seen one thistle make its appearance.

If you use special fertilizers—and it will be for your interest to do so when you can obtain them—use them so as to enable you to make accurately the results. Guano, poudrette, sulphate of lime, nitrate of soda and superphosphate of lime are yet but imperfectly understood. They are doubtless valuable, but require to be more carefully studied in their results.

A LATE English writer says that a sheep, to be in high order for the palate of the epicure, should not be killed earlier that five years old, at which age the mutton will be rich and succulent, of a dark color and full of the richest gravy; whereas, if only two years old, it is flabby, pale and flavorless.

THE BEAVER ARGUS.

May 10th, 1865.

War News of the Week.

Sherman's army is marching to Washington, and its advance has already reached Petersburg.

The troops of Gens. Cox and Terry, with Kilpatrick's Cavalry, will remain in North Carolina for the present.

Grant's troops are also moving northward, with the exception of the 6th corps, which is at Danville.

The army of the United States will be reduced during the coming summer to four Corps, each 40,000 strong; one of regulars, one of white volunteers, and two of negro troops.

Official intelligence is said to have reached Washington that Stoneman had attacked and routed Jeff. Davis and his escort near Washington, Georgia, and that the capture of the arch-rebel is confidently expected. There would seem to be little difficulty in his eluding our forces and making his escape across the Mississippi with the small party of civilians who accompany him, and the fact of his travelling with an escort of several thousand cavalry, goes far to confirm the report that he is bearing off a large amount of treasure.

The reports that Dick Taylor and Kirby Smith, who command the only rebel armies in the field, have tendered their surrender are reiterated.

Gen. Thomas has instructed his subordinates to demand the surrender of the rebel troops in their vicinity under penalty of outlawry.

State Treasury.

On Monday, 1st inst., the term of Hon. Henry D. Moore, as State Treasurer, expired. He has filled the office most acceptably to the people and profitably to the Commonwealth since May, 1861, with the exception of one year when the Democrats were in power in the Legislature, and the finances of the State have never been more ably managed or left in better condition by a retiring officer. He bears with him in his retirement the best wishes of all who have been brought into official communication with him.

His successor Hon. Wm. H. Kemble, has never before been prominently before the people in an official capacity, but is well known in the eastern part of the State as a gentleman of the first ability, and of large business and financial experience. His original and comprehensive views upon the method of providing our revenue and, its proper subjects will, if seconded by the necessary legislation, go far to relieve the landed and farming interests from taxation. He will be found a most valuable and popular officer.

The receipts at the Treasury for the four months ending on the 1st inst., were $700,000 in excess of the receipts for the corresponding months of the last fiscal year. The increase is traceable almost entirely to the revenue derived under the tax bill of 1864, from the tonnage tax upon railroads and canals, and the income tax upon corporations. Against this we will have to set off during the present year a loss of some $500,000 tax upon banks, which escape the operation of the revenue bill by organization under the National banking system. A bill to tax the National banks to a certain extent was introduced at the last session of the Legislature, and we understand will be pressed upon the next—They are already mulcted pretty heavily under the National law, and unless there should be a falling off in other sources of revenue, the imposition of any additional burden is of a questionable propriety.

Beaver county Boys at the Front.

Private Charles Higby, of New Brighton, Sergt. Alex. C. Elliott, of North Sewickly, and Sergt. J. K. Piersol, of Brush Creek, each captured a rebel battle flag, during Sheridan's campaign below Petersburg. They were ordered by Gen. Sheridan to Washington to present the captured trophies in person to the Secretary of War, and have been alloted each a medal of honor, and a furlough of thirty days, with payment of arrears of pay to date of furlough. We are proud to chronicle their successful bravery and their honors.

☞The Republican County Convention of Butler Co. is called for the 10th of June.

"Ex," &c.

Two weeks ago in an article upon the composition of the next State Senate, we mentioned as a reason why this county elected no Senator at the coming election in the room of the Hon. C. C. M'Candless, whose term expires, that under the gerrymandering apportionment of 1864, we were annexed to Washington, Senatorially, and represented by a Democrat in whose election we had no voice, but who, we were satisfied would, apart from politics, faithfully care for the interests of our district. This reference "impels" our correspondent "Ex" to a communication, written in no very equable temper, and published last week.

"Ex," we believe, was a member of committee which drafted the bill for the apportionment referred to, and understood, we presume from the tone of his communication, that we were complaining of the bill, and indirectly censuring his course. We assure him that such was not our intention If we had any quarrel with his action, we should say so in plain terms. The bill was, as we styled it, a gerrymander of the hugest species, making all sorts of unnatural alliances for political ends, double Senatorial Districts such as Chester Montgomery and Delaware, and Centre, Blair, Huntingdon, Mifflin, Juniata and Perry, and double Representative Districts, as Butler, Lawrence and Mercer with four members, Beaver and Washington with three, &c., making all allowances for fractions on the one side and scarcely any on the other, and proposing to secure nearly a two-third Union vote in the Legislature, while we had at the preceding election but a majority of 15 to 16,000 in the State. The screws were applied to the enemy effectually, until they cried out in pain and horror. Væ Victis is a good motto in politics, and though some of our Republican friends came to the mark with reluctance, we believe, had we been there, we would have done as "Ex"—when the party went gunning for the Democratic Districts, we would have gone along to help bag and carry the game. As to our own District there was a prevailing sentiment that our people in Washington had fought a good fight and should be rewarded, and we presume "Ex" could not have altered the present status if he had wished.

"Ex" has heard it remarked that this District was well cared for in the apportionment—we never have. The District was the creature of the apportionment, not the object of its care. The counties of Beaver and Washington were to be taken care of, and their representatives were to take care of them, if possible. Beaver had within a very small fraction of the number of taxables to give her a member. No one dreamed of depriving her of her right, and the only question was whether she should elect separately or in conjunction with another county. She has her member yet, and has gained nothing. Senatorially she was entitled to a Senator at the next election, and could have had one without doubt in any district in which Butler was associated with her. Now she is postponed in the election for a year, is represented by a Democrat in whose election she had no voice, and can take her chances for the next nomination. In addition, there is the possibility, remote we trust, that some political oscillation, like that of 1862, may swamp the District ticket Senatorial or Legislative. She is Senatorially equal, says "Ex." So she was Congressionally equal; but equality in politics, we have learned, means the right to take what you can get by hook or crook, and keep what you have, if you can—no more. On the other hand, Washington retains her two members, and makes their election sure by our majority, is released from a hopeless Senatorial District, and placed in a safe one, with even chances for the next Senator, and with her county ticket materially strengthened by the practical withdrawal of Senate and Assembly from the contest. The arrangement, like the last Congressional apportionment, is fun alive for Washington—for the District, if Washington is the District—but we can't exactly perceive where the laugh comes in for Beaver.

As to our mention of Col Hopkins, which "Ex" does not seem to approve, we have only to say that we will always be ready to do justice to a political opponent, however bitter a partisan he may be. We would much rather commit the local legislation, involving no political issue, of our District to Col. H. than to the 19 Republican Senators who have their nineteen several constituencies, all more prolific of legislation than we, to look after. We believe, as we said, that he is courteous, able and efficient, and aside from politics will faithfully care for his District. If "Ex" thinks differently, then it only results that we differ with "Ex" upon a very grave question. But a truce to a discussion neither pleasant to us nor profitable to our readers. Exeunt "Ex" and "State Senate."

Washington Presbytery.

We learn from the Washington Reporter & Tribune that the Presbytery of Washington, at its recent session in Wheeling, appointed Rev's. David Hervey and Wm. J. Alexander, and Messrs. Samuel McLean and S. N. Orr Commissioners to the General Assembly to meet at Pittsburgh on the 18th inst.

The following admirable resolutions upon the death of the President were unanimously adopted:

Assembled at a time of unparalleled national bereavement and sorrow, occasioned by the brutal and fiendish assassination of Abraham Lincoln, the late honored and beloved President of the United States, this Presbytery feel themselves called to share the common grief and to bow, in humiliation, before the throne of our Father in heaven; therefore,

Resolved, 1, That in the time, circumstances and manner of the death of our late Chief Magistrate, we are pained to see, only in another form the same wicked spirit of treason and rebellion which, through four years of carnage and desolation, has sought by military force the destruction of the best government of the world, and along with it our nationality itself, and failing in this, has aimed a death blow at the heart of the nation with success in the person of the Executive, and almost with a like result in the person of the Secretary of State, with a manifest design also, thwarted by Providence, upon other high officers of the government and army—a spirit which, in every sort of development, demands the inflexible hand of justice for its suppression.

2. That our thanks are due to the Supreme Ruler for the gift of a man as the head of the nation at such a crisis, whose great sagacity, lofty patriotism, tried integrity and remarkable benevolence, were the centre and basis of public confidence and for the preservation of his life until the national honor was vindicated, the power of the rebellion broken, and peace, together with the integrity of our institutions, assured.

3. That above the agency of wicked and desperate men, we recognized the hand of the infinitely wise and just God, who has permitted this great calamity to come upon us for our chastisement, and for the accomplishment of providential purposes, which in the end, will doubtless be seen to be right and good.

4. That in common with all loyal citizens, we shall remember with gratitude and pride the endurance, valor and achievement of our army and navy—officers and privates alike—to whose patriotic devotion under the blessings of heaven we are indebted for the safety of our inheritance, amidst such unexampled perils.

5. That it is a special subject for thanksgiving to God, that by means of the civil and military powers of the government, employed for its preservation, he has not only crowned our hopes of a just and honorable peace but also so bounded and controlled the wrath of man for his own praise, as to make a treasonable rebellion, organized and carried forward in the interest of human slavery, the very occasion and instrument of breaking every yoke and letting the oppressed go free.

6. That mindful of the requirements of the word of God, not only "to be subject to principalities and power, to obey magistrates, to be ready for every good work," but also to make "supplications, prayers, intercessions and giving of thanks," for all in authority, that we may lead a quiet and peaceable life in all godliness and honesty, we both pledge ourselves, and inculcate the same upon our people, to yield the support due from christian citizens to our present Chief Magistrate in the legitimate discharge of his official duties, and to make continual supplication at the throne of grace for his personal welfare and his direction in public concerns so that in fact as well as theory, he may be "the minister of God to us for good."

8. That in accordance with the proclamation of President Johnson, appointing the 25th of May, as a day of national humiliation and prayer, in view of the death of the late President, the said day be observed in all our churches with appropriate service.

Proclamation by Gov. Curtin,

WHEREAS, The President of the United States has by his proclamation fixed the 1st day of June next as a day of humiliation and mourning for the death, by assassination, of our late beloved President, Abraham Lincoln, and for humbling ourselves before Almighty God, in order that the bereavement may be sanctified to the nation.

And whereas, It is most fit and meet that said proclamation, harmonizing as it does with all our feelings and sympathies, should be everywhere respectfully obeyed:

Now, therefore, I ANDREW G. CURTIN, Governor of the said Commonwalth, do issue this my proclamation earnestly recommending the people of this Commonwalth to set apart THURSDAY, the first day of June next as a day of humiliation and mourning and in conformity with the President's proclamation, then to assemble in their respective places of worship there to unite in solemn service to Almghty God, in memory of the good man who has been removed; so that all shall be occupied at the same time in contemplation of his virtues, and in sorrow for his sudden and violent end.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State, at Harrisburg, this fourth day of May, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five, and of the Commonwealth the eighty-ninth.

By the Governor.

ELI SLIFER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

Proclamation by the President.

REWARD FOR ARCH-TRATORS

WASHINGTON, May 3.

PROCLAMATION.

Whereas, it appears from evidence in the Bureau of Military Justice, that the atrocious murder of the late President, Abraham Lincoln, and the attempted assassination of Hon. W. H. Seward, Sec'y of State, were concocted and procured by and between Jeff Davis, late of Richmond, Va., and Jacob Thompson, Clement C Clay, Beverly Tucker, George N Sanders, W. C. Cleary, and other rebels and traitors against the government of the United States,

Now, therefore, to this end, I, Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, do offer for said persons, or either of them, the following reward $50,000 for the arrest of Jeff. Davis, late of Richmond, Virginia, $25,000 for the arrest of Clement C. Clay, $25,000 for the arrest of Jacob Thompson, late of Miss., $25,000 for the arrest of George N. Sanders, $25,000 for the arrest of Beverly Tucker, and $10,000 for the arrest of Wm. C. Cleary, late clerk of Clement C. Clay.

The Provost Marshal General of the United States is directed to cause a description of said persons, with a notice of the above reward, to be published.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal to be affixed. Done at Washington, on the 2d day of May, in the year of our Lord 1865.

ANDREW JOHNSON.

By W. HUNTER,
Acting Secretary of State.

THE following resolution to encourage the employment of disabled and discharged soldiers was passed by the last Congress:

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That persons honorably discharged from the military or naval service by reason of disability resulting from wounds or sickness incurred in the line of duty should be preferred for appointment to civil officers, provided they shall be found to possess the business capacity necessary for the proper discharge of the duties of such offices.

SEC. 10. And be it further resolved, That, in grateful recognition of the services, sacrifices, and suffering of persons honorably discharged from the military and naval service of the country, by reason of wounds, disease or the expirations of terms of enlistment, it is respectfully recommended to bankers, merchants, manufacturers, mechanics, farmers, and persons engaged in industrial pursuits, to give them the preference for appointment to remunerative situations and employments.

Approved, March 3, 1865.

ISHAM G. HARRIS, who styles himself Governor of Tennessee, on the strength of an election held somewhere out side of that State, being totally invisible to and undiscoverable by the people whom he professed to govern, they have offered $5,000 for a good look at him. It is not often that a State evinces such attachment to its leading functionary.—N. Y. Tribune.

LOCAL and MISCELLANEOUS

☞ We are in receipt of a number of anonymous communications, with a request for their publication. We repeat, for the benefit of our correspondents, that we publish no communication unless the name of the author accompanies it. All others go straight to the waste-basket.

☞ Alexander Clark, of this place, is the agent of the "Welcome Hay Rake," and is about to canvass the county for sales. We are informed that it is a very valuable patent, and trust that our farmers will make a trial of it.

☞ We are informed by our farmer friends that the crops in this county look most promising. Of wheat, in particular there is a prospect of the best harvest that has been taken in for many years.

☞ We call attention to the advertisement of F. A. Fortune, Rochester. He has an excellent stock of goods just imported from the East at low prices. He is succeeding admirably we understand in his business, the result of his business capacity and his liberal advertising.

☞ On the 23 inst., at the Red Lion Hotel, Pittsburg, Capt. R F McIlvain, of Rochester, late of Co. K, 76 P. V. had his pocket picked of a fine gold watch, presented to him by the men of his company.

☞ The Board of Directors of the National Bank of Beaver County, as will be seen by their notice in another column, have declared a dividend of five per cent. out of the profits of the last six months, and will declare another dividend on the first Wednesday of July next. They have also added some 3 per cent. to their contingent fund, making an actual semi-annual dividend of 8 per cent.

This Bank during the last four weeks has sold almost $50,000 of the 7.30 loan.

The Steinway Piano.

The Detroit Free Press one of the best papers on our exchange list, and whose editor is an expert musical gentleman, speaks in the following high terms of the Steinway Piano. Messrs. Henry Kieber & Bro No. 122 Wood street, Pittsburgh, Pa., are the only agent for these celebrated instruments, which are preferred by all musicians of note in this country as well as Europe. But listen to our Michigan friend. He says:

The sweet and powerful tone, combined with the most perfect action and beautiful finish of the instruments recommends them over all others. The fact that other makers parade before the public that they have succeeded in getting men from Steinway's employ, and consequently can finish pianos of the same celebrity, or just as good, is a great error. They have been trying to imitate them for some time, but at best they are only imitations—therefore don't be humbugged by them any more. There are many persons who have been misled by unprincipled dealers, who would gladly take one half the cost if they had the means to pay the balance to get a "Steinway," which is sure to last.

Musical Soiree.—We spent a very pleasant hour at the private Soiree of the Pupils of the Seminary last Friday evening. These gatherings are not only musical but social, and must prove a source of great enjoyment as well as profit to all participating.—We learn that Prof. Bassler is very popular among his pupils, and from his manner and skill in instruction, his proficiency in his chosen profession, and his gentlemanly bearing, we would say he is deservedly so. His attainments in the musical line are unsurpassed. His singing shows the finest taste and appreciation of the sentiment of the pieces, while his instrumentals, often of his own composition, are equal to anything that can be produced outside of the great masters of the art. His violin accompaniments add very much to the interest as well to these performances as conduce to the advancement of the scholar. We understand he is master of the Organ, and can bring out of it tones both mellifluous and powerful. Prof. Bostwick gives the nicest possible touch to the guitar, so that we are not surprised that his services are in demand not only here but in other towns.

It seems to be accorded by the universal consent of mankind that Dr. J. C Ayer & Co.'s Sarsaparilla, Pectoral and Pills are the greatest remedies yet discovered for the treatment of disease; that Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the great Elixir of Life, which Philosophers have sought, for purifying the blood. Try and judge for yourselves.

☞ We publish with pleasure the following tribute to the memory of one of our Beaver county Volunteers who is now filling a soldier's grave:

HD'QRS 140TH PENNA. VOLS.—
Dec. 12th, 1864.

Mrs. Martha Whitehill—Dear Madam: It is with deep sympathy, and sincere sorrow, that I now write you. It is my painful duty to inform you that your son David E. Whitehill is dead. He died last Saturday, Dec. 10th, from the effects of a wound received the day previous, on the skirmish line near Hatcher's run, about five miles south of the extreme left of our line of fortifications. He was struck with a minnie ball in the bowels; the ball passed through his bowels and lodged in his hip. He was brought back from the line immediately after he was wounded. We did everything we could to make him comfortable whilst he remained in the field hospital, which was but a short time. He was soon brought back to the established hospital of the division. When I first saw him I informed him that I feared his wound was mortal. He said he thought so himself. He then took from his pocket his memorandum book, some pictures, a knife and pocket book, which he desired me to send you, which I did by the hand of Sergt. Thornburg. I was closely by his side until he was put in an ambulance. He talked freely about himself. I asked him if he was afraid to meet death. He calmly said, "No, I am not; I have found Jesus precious to my soul. I have no fears; I know he will own me. I have tried to love him and serve him." I asked him if he was willing to leave the world and all its charms. He replied that his Savior was his all now. He was very patient and very calm. Though he suffered much, I did not hear him utter a single groan or a single word of complaint. He showed throughout the spirit of a christian soldier. He was much loved in the regiment. He was so kind and pleasant and gentlemanly and soldierly in his manners that no one could help admiring him. Your loss is certainly great, for you have lost a loving and a dutiful son. Our loss is great, because another model soldier has given his life for his country. He made no request as to the disposition of his remains after death, except that I should see that he was properly buried. He is buried and the grave marked at the hospital burying ground, so that if you ever wish to remove him you can do so. The morning before we started on the march for Hatcher's run, he and I were walking outside the works looking at the Rebel's pickets and talking freely about our position. Little did I then think that in less than twenty-four hours he should be suffering death from a rebel bullet. But in the midst of life we are in death, and it shows us to be also ready. I know your affliction is very great; I know you are sad and stricken in heart, and for you my deepest sympathy is freely given.—but the only one who can give the garments of praise for the spirit of heaviness is our heavenly father. It is his grace alone that can sustain you under the stroke and enable you to say "Even so father for so it seemeth good in thy sight." I hope you will be able to look up and be strengthened. Yours in sorrow,

J. LYNN MILLIGAN,
Chaplain 140th, P. V.

☞ We have received from the Publishers, Harper's Monthly for May, an excellent number. Armadale, by Wilkie Collins, and Our Mutual Friend, by Dickens, both tales of thrilling interest, are continued; and in addition, we have a paper on the Washoe Country, by the traveler J. Ross Brown; a biographic sketch of Lyman Beecher, an article upon McClellan's change of base, largely compiled from the work of our friend Dr. Marks, and an officer's recollections of Gen. Thomas. Amongst the illustrations are portraits of M'Clellan, Thomas and Robert E. Lee. The present is the one hundred and eightieth number, completing the thirtieth volume. The average circulation of the Magazine since its first issue has been over 100,000 monthly. It is the most successful magazine of the day, and by its merit deserves all its success.

We have also upon our table the April number of Blackwood, furnished by Leonard Scott & Co., 38 Walker Street, New York. The serials, Miss Majoribanks, Cornelius O'Dowd and Etoniana are continued, and it contains also a good article upon Dress, &c., and another upon Lord Russell, written in no friendly vein, valuable to all who wish to understand English politics. It is re-printed from the British edition by Messrs. Scott & Co, at $4,00 per annum.

We have also a good number of Clark's School Visitor for May.

Beaver Female Seminary.—Prof. Taylor informs us that the middle of this Session of our flourishing Seminary occurs next Monday, and that pupils can enter advantageously at that time. We everywhere hear the new arrangement and Faculty highly spoken of, and are convinced that however worthy our schools were heretofore, this is much more so. The Faculty are most of them well and favorably known by their labors in their profession in this community. Mrs. Kean, recently of Canonsburgh, is a lady of polished manners, and is much beloved by her pupils. She is not a slight accession to the Board of Instruction. We wish the Institution great and continued success in its efforts to increase the Literary and Musical advantages of our town, which we are convinced are already second to those of no town or city in the country.

Letter from the 1st Pa. Veteran Cavalry.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 18, '65

Messrs. Quay and Butan:—As some of the second division of Cavalry are from your county, you would perhaps like to see a short sketch of its operations in the last movements below Richmond and Petersburg. As space and time will permit nothing more than a mere sketch, I shall give it as such.

On the 29th of March we broke camp and marched to Dinwiddie Court House. On the 31st we fought all day with Pickett's Division of Rebels, and, although forced back, we were not whipped. Our next engagement was at Fame Cross-Roads, where six pieces of artillery and three miles of wagon trains were captured, among them were Gen. Lee's Headquarter train. The artillery and a part of the wagons, with a large number of horses and mules, were gotten away, the remainder of the wagons were burnt. On the 6th the Division was engaged at two different times burning another mile of wagon trains, and also captured quite a number of prisoners during the day. On the 7th we were engaged at Farmville, and the 2d Division had the honor of being in the last fight with Lee's army before he surrendered.

The following named men having captured Rebel battle flags in these engagements, were sent to Washington by Gen. Sheridan to present the flags to the Secretary of War, for which he (Gen. Sheridan) requested that each man should receive a medal of honor, and a furlough of thirty days, and all back pay paid up to the present:

Sergt. J. A Davidsizer, Lewistown, Mifflin county; Chief Bugler J. P. Landis, Lowistown, Mifflin county; Private Harry Waifle, Lewistown, Mifflin county; Sergt. A J. Young, Clarksville, Greene county; Sergt J. K. Piersol, Brush Creek Beaver county; Sergt. J. Donaldson, Mercer, Mercer county; Private Charles Higby, New Brighton, Beaver county; Sergt. G. W. Stewart, Salem City, New Jersey; Sergt. Alex. C. Elliott, North Sewickly, Beaver county; Private Lewis Lock, Clinton county, N. Y; Private S. P. Kenyan, New York City; Private C. Streile, New York City.

Yours, respectfully,
A. C. E.

It is the foremost Magazine of the day.—The fireside never had a more delightful companion, nor the million a more enterprising friend, than Harper's Magazine.—Methodist Protestant (Baltimore).

The most popular Monthly in the World.—New York Observer.

We must refer in terms of eulogy to the high tone and varied excellent of HARPER'S MAGAZINE—a journal with a monthly circulation of about 170,000 copies—in whose pages are to be found some of the choicest light and general reading of the day. We speak of this work as an evidence of the American People; and the popularity it has acquired is merited. Each number contains fully 144 pages of reading matter, appropriately illustrated with good wood-cuts; and it combines in itself the racy monthly and the more philosophical quarterly, blended with the best features of the daily. It has great power in the dissemination of a love of pure literature.—TRUBNER'S Guide to American Literature, London.

The volumes bound constitute of themselves a library of miscellaneous reading such as cannot be found in the same compass in any other publication that has come under our notice.—Boston Courier.

THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL.

Published Daily by
The Pittsburgh Newspaper and Printing Company.

One of the Largest and Most Widelg Circulated Papers in the State. Gives the Earliest and Fullest Intelligence.

Prospectus for the New Year.

On assuming control of the Commercial, at the commencement of the year, the conductors announced their DETERMINATION to infuse a new life and vigor into its columns which should render the paper MORE THAN EVER ACCEPTABLE TO THE READER.

The Rapid Increase in Circulation, flattering notices of our contemporaries, and Congratulatory Letters from every quarter, assure us that our efforts have not been unsuccessful.

The Commercial HAS GROWN DAILY in public favor until it now ranks among the LEADING JOURNALS in the country.

In order to keep pace with the demands of the reading public, and at the same time meet the increasing pressure on our advertising columns, we some months since INCREASED THE DIMENSIONS OF THE PAPER TO THE EXTENT OF FOUR COLUMNS.

Among the leading features are full a reliable TELEGRAPHIC REPORTS; from all the leading points of interest. It devotes special attention to MARKET REPORTS, including the IRON, OIL, CATTLE, LUMBER, TOBACCO, and the PITTSBURGH GENERAL MARKETS. Our RIVER NEWS, receives particular attention, and in this Department the Commercial has no rival. The FINANCIAL AND STOCK REPORTS, of the Commercial are prepared with care and will be found to be unusually full and reliable. Also, the Reports of the LEADING MARKETS OF THE COUNTRY, embracing reports of the DRY GOODS and WHOLESALE MARKETS, and Special Reports of OIL STOCK FINANCE AND TRADE, from day to day.

While special attention will be given to these several Departments, the Commercial lays claim to rank among the leading journals of the country as a medium of GENERAL INTELLIGENCE.

Its aim is to give none but healthy reading suited to the FAMILY CIRCLE, and to be a welcome visitor to the discriminating public.

THE PULPIT forms a peculiar feature of the Commercial. By giving every Saturday an ORIGINAL SERMON, prepared expressly by a Minister of the Gospel, in Pittsburgh or vicinity, (which, also, goes into the weekly,) fifty-two discourses are given in the year, by not less than twenty or thirty different Ministers, without regard to denominational distinction. This Department of the Commercial has attracted much attention; and arrangements are being made to in crease its recognized importance and value. As a feature at once novel and instructive, it constitutes not the least of the many claims of the Commercial to patronage.

In politics the Commercial will be an undeviating supporter of the Union, and earnestly loyal to the Government, and as far as consistent with this aim, free from Partizanship.

The Commercial is a large folio sheet, and is published in two editions every morning, Sunday excepted.

TERMS OF DAILY: by mail, $10 per annum; City subscribers, served by carriers, $13 per annum, in advance, or, 25 cents per week payable to the carrier. Single copies 5 cents. A discount made to Agents.

THE SATURDAY COMMERCIAL—A large sheet, containing all the Current News, Miscellaneous, Literary, and Scientific Intelligence, and Valuable Reading for the Family, is published at $1,50, (52 issues,) per year. In Clubs of Twenty, $1.

The Money for Weekly and Daily must always accompany the order and in no instance can these terms be deviated from.

☞ Postmasters are requested to act as agents for the Commercial.

NEW BRIGHTON RETREAT

AN ASYLUM FOR THE RECEPTION, CURE AND TREATMENT OF MENTAL ALIENATION OR DISORDER And Other Nervous and Chronic Diseases. EXCLUSIVELY FOR FEMALES.

THIS institution is now open for the reception, care, and treatment of the independent class of patients who are laboring under mental derangement; or other nervous and chronic disease. We make special mention of nervous and chronic diseases, from the fact that seven tenths of the female patients that are committed to our public Asylums, to be treated for disordered minds, are reduced to that lamentable condition through previous physical disorder. By a well timed and judicious treatment of chronic and nervous diseases, all physical disorders, in the majority of cases may be removed; and thus the mind, having suffered through the medium of the body will when free from the exciting physical cause, throw off the shackles that has bound it to worse than midnight darkness, and reason will, once more, resume its sway, clothed in all its primitive beauty and wonted excellence. Hence the necessity of all those, who are laboring under the predisposing or exciting causes, calculated in the end to impair the mind to resort to an early and judicious course of remedial agents.

The Institution is a large brick building with a stone basement—four stories high and well ventilated. It is situated on an elevated table land which commands a view of entire town—adjacent hills—groves and neighboring streams; all of which are calculated to produce favorable impressions upon the disorder ed mind.

The Institution is complete in all of its appointments. Having been tastefully fitted up at graet expense, in order that it may meet the approbation and views of the most fastidious.

The water closets and bathing apparatus have been gotten up upon the most approved modern scientific principles. This department embraces not only the ordinary baths but, also, the medicated, warm air and ascending and descending douche for the more effectual and successful treatment of cutaneous and other scrofulous diseases.

We beg leave to say to all those who may be disposed to commit the interests of a dear wife, sister or daughter, to our charge—may be assured that no means will be spared or efforts wanting on our part to ameliorate their condition or to effect a restoration to their accustomed health and vigor of mind.

For further particulars send for a circular. All communications should be addressed to.

FRIENDS AND RELATIVES OF THE BRAVE SOLDIERS AND SAILROS, HOLLOWAY'S PILLS And Ointment.

ALL WHO have Friends and Relatives in the Army or Navy, should take especial care that they be amply supplied with these Pills and Ointment; and where the brave Soldiers and Sailors have neglected to provide themselves with them, no better present can be sent them by their friends. They have been proved to be the Soldier's never-failing friend in the hour of need.

COUGHS AND COLDS AFFECTING TROOPS

Will be speedily removed and effectually cured by using these admirable medicines, and by paying proper attention to the Directions which are attached to each Pot or Box.

SICK HEADACHES AND WANT OF APPETITE INCIDENTAL TO SOLDIERS.

These feelings which so sadden us, usually arise from trouble or annoyances, obstructed perspiration, or eating and drinking whatever is unwholesome, thus disturbing the healthful action of the liver and stomach. These organs must be relieved, if you desire to be well. The Pills, taking according to the printed instructions, will quickly a produce a healthy action in both liver and stomach, and as a natural consequence a clear head and good appetite.

WEAKNESS OR DEBILITY INDUCED BY OVER FATIGUE,

Will soon disappear by the use of these invaluable Pills, and the Soldier will quickly acquire additional strength. Never let the bowels be either confined or unduly acted upon. It may seem strange that Holloway's Pills should be recommended for Dysentery and Flux, many persons supposing that they would increase the relaxation. This is a great mistake, for these Pills will correct the liver and stomach and thus remove all the acrid humors from the system. This medicine will give tone and vigor to the whole organic system however deranged, while health and strength follow as a matter of course. Nothing will stop the relaxation of the Bowels so sure as this famous medicine.

VOLUNTEERS ATTENTION! INDISCRETIONS OF YOUTH.

Sores and Ulcers, Blotchings and Swellings, can with certainty be radically cured if the Pills are taken night and morning, and the ointment be freely used as stated in the printed instructions. If treated in any other manner they dry up in one part to break out in another. Whereas this Ointment will remove the humors from the system and leave the Patient a vigorous and healthy man. It will require a little perseverance in bad cases to insure a lasting curc.

FOR WOUNDS EITHER OCCASIONED BY THE BAYONET, OR SABRE OR THE BULLET, SORES OR BRUISES,

To which every Soldier and Sailor are liable there are no medicines so safe, sure and convenient as Holloway's Pills and ointment. The poor wounded and almost dying sufferer might have his wounds dressed immediately, if he would only provide himself with this matchless Ointment, which should be thrust into the wound and smeared all around it, then covered with a piece of linen from his knapsack, and compressed with a handkerchief. Taking night and morning 6 or 8 Pills, to cool the system and prevent inflamation.

Every Soldier's knapsack and Seaman's chest should be provided with these valuable Remedies.

CAUTION.—None are genuine unless the words "Holloway, New York and London," are discernable as a water-mark in every leaf of the book of directions around each pot or box; the same may be plainly seen by holding the leaf to the light. A handsome reward will be given to any one rendering such information as may lead to the detection of any party or parties counterfeiting the medicines or vending the same, knowing them to be spurious.

 Sold at the Manufactory of Professor HOLLOWAY, 80 Maiden Lane, New York, and by all respectable Druggists and Dealers in Medicines, throughout the civilized world, in boxes at 25 cents, 62 cents and $1 each.

☞ There is considerable saving by taking the larger sizes.

N. B.—Directions for the guidance of patients in every disorder are affixed to each box.

BRITISH PERIODICALS,

VIZ.

THE LONDON QUARTERLY REVIEW (Conserv.)
THE EDINBURGH REVIEW (Whig.)
THE WESTMINSTER REVIEW (Radical.)
THE NORTH BRITISH REVIEW (Free-Church.)
AND
BLACKWOOD'S EDINBURGH MAGAZINE (Tory.)

The American Publishers continue to reprint the above-named periodicals, but as the cost of printing has doubled, the price of paper nearly trebled, and taxes, duties, licenses, etc., largely increased, they are compelled to advance their terms as follows:

TERMS FOR 1865.

For any one of the Reviews	$4,00
For any two of the Reviews	7,00
Fer any three of the Reviews	10,00
For all four of the Reviews	12,00
For Blackwood's Magazine	4,00
For Blackwood and one Review	7,00
For Blackwood and any two Reviews	10,00
For Brackwood and three Reviews	13,00
For Blackwood and the four Reviews	15,00

The works will be printed on a greatly improved quality of paper, and while nearly all American Periodicals are either advanced in price or reduced in size—and very generally both—we shall continue to give faithful copies of all the matters contained in the original editions. Hence, our present prices will be found as cheap, for the amount of matter furnished, as those of any of the competing periodicals in this country.

Compared with the cost of the originals editions, which at the present premium on gold would be about $100 a year, our prices ($15) are exceedingly low. Add to this the fact that we make our annual payments to the British Publishers for early sheets and copyright in Gold—$1 costing us at this time (Jan. 1865) nearly $2,50 in currency—and we trust that in the scale we have adopted we shall be entirely justified by our subscribers and the reading public.

The interest of these Periodicals to American readers is rather increased than diminished by the articles they contain on our Civil War, and though sometimes tinged with prejudice, they may still, considering their great ability and the different stand-points from which they are written, be read and studied with advantage by the people of this country, of every creed and party.

THE FOUR REVIEWS for 1863.

A few copies of the above remain on hand, and will be sold at $5 for the whole four, or $2 for any one.

Dr. Hurd's MOUTH WASH, TOOTH POWDER and TOOTHACHE DROPS cannot be sent by mail, but they can probably be obtained at your Drug or Periodical Stores. If they cannot, send to us for the DENTA TREASURY, Price, ONE DOLLAR, which con tains them.

A NOW.

Are Dr. Hurd's Preparations Good?

The best evidences that they are is, that their firmest friends and best patrons are those who have used them longest. Dr. Wm. B. Hurd is an eminent Dentist of Brooklyn, Treasurer of the New York State Dentists' Association, and these preparations have been used in his private practice for years, and no leading citizen of Brooklyn or Williamsburg questions their excellence, while eminent Dentists of New York recommend them as the best known to the profession. Without the aid of advertising, dealers have sold them by the gross.

The Editor of the Brooklyn Daily Times says: "We are happy to know that our friend, Dr. Hurd, is succeeding beyond all expectations with his MOUTH WASH and TOOTH POWDER. The great secret of his success rests with the fact that his articles are precisely what they are represented to be, as we can testify from their long use."

The well known P. T. Barnum writes: "I found your TOOTH POWDER so good that my family have used it all up. We find it the best powder for the teeth we have ever used. I shall feel obliged if you will send me another supply at the Museum at your convenience, with bill."

But their cost is so small that every one may test the matter for himself.

☞ Beware of the ordinary Tooth Powders. Dr. Hurd's Tooth Pooder contains no acids, nor alkali, nor charcoal, and polishes without wearing the enamel. Use no other.

WHAT WILL DR. HURD'S REMEDIES EFFECT?

Dr. Hurd's Mouth Wash and Tooth Powder will give young ladies that finest charm in woman—a sweet breath and pearly teeth. Try them, ladies.

Dr. Hurd's Mouth Wash and Tooth Powder will cleanse the mouth from all foul exhalations, and if used in the morning, will make the breakfast taste sweeter and the day begin more pleasantly. Hundreds of persons can testify to this. Try them, gentlemen.

Dr. Hurd's Mouth Wash and Tooth Powder are the the best preparations in the world for curing bad breath and giving firmness and health to the gums. Hundreds of cases of Diseased Bleeding Gums, Sore Mouth, Canker, etc., have been cured by Dr. Hurd's astringent wash.

Dr. Hurd's Mouth Wash and Tooth Powder give an additional charm to courtship, and make husbands more agreeable to their wives and wives to their husbands. They should be used by every person having ARTIFICIAL TEETH, which are liable to impait a taint to the mouth

Dr. Hurd's Toothache Droops cure Toothache arising from exposed nerves, and are the best friends that parents can have in the house to save their children from torture and themselves from loss of sleep and sympathetic suffering.

Farmers and mechanics! you cannot well afford to neglect your teeth. For a trifling sume you can now get preservatives, than which Rothschild or Astor can get nothing better. Remember that Dyspepsia and Consumption of the Lungs often originate in neglect of Teeth. Send for the Treatise on Teeth, and read Dr. Fitch's observations on this subject. If too late to arrest decay in your own teeth, save your children's teeth.

NEURALGIA PLASTERS.—Dr. Hurd's Neuralgia Non-Adhesive Plasters are the most pleasant and successful remedies ever prescribed for this painful disease. The patient applies one, soon becomes drowsy, falls asleep, and awakes free from pain, and no blister or other unpleasant or injurious consequences ensue. For Earache and Nervous Headache, apply according to directions, and relief will surely follow. Nothing can be obtained equal to Dr. Hurd's Compress for Neuralgia. Try them. They are entirely a novel, curious and original preparation, and wonderfully successful. They are of two sizes, one small, for the face, price 15 cents, and the other large, for application to the body, price 37 cents. Will be mailed on receipt of price and one stamp.

WHAT ARE THE PEOPLE DOING?

The American people are intelligent enough to appreciate preparations that contribute so much to happiness of those using them, and they wont them. Every mail brings us letters, some ordering the Treatise on Teeth, some the Neuralgia Plasters, and not a few enclosing 37 cts. for the Mouth Wash, to be sent by mail; but to these we are compelled to reply that it is impossible to send a half-pint bottle by mail. The people want these Remedies. Who will supply them?

Now is the CHANCE FOR AGENTS.

Shrewd agents can make a small fortune in carrying these articles around to families. The Dental Treasury is the neatest article that a man or woman can carry around. Send for one and see, or, better, a dozen, which we will sell, as samples, for $7. Agents supplied liberally with circulars. ☞ Now is the time to to go into the business, to do good, and make a profit. We are spending thousands for the benefit of agents. New England men or women! here is something nice, and a chance to take the tide at its flood. Address,

WHEELER & WILSON'S SEWING MACHINES.

The Best, Most Reliable Sewing Machine Now in Use!

These Machines make the lock-stich alike on both sides, and use less than half the thread and silks that the single or double thread loop-stitch Machines do. It will Stitch, Hem, Fell, Quilt, Tuck, Plait, Gather, Cord, Braid, etc., all without previous basting, and are better adapted than any other Sewing Machine in use to the frequent changes and great variety of sewing required in a family; or they will sew from one to twenty thicknesses of Marseilles without stopping, and make every stitch perfect; or from the finest gauze to the heaviest beaver cloth, without changing the feed needle or tension, or making any adjustment of machine whatever!

It has the following advantages over all other machines:

Far greater variety of work; beauty and excollence of stitch; speed and quietness of motion; simplicity of construction; ease and management; elegance of design and finish.

These are peculiar facts, and will go far to determine the choice of an intelligent buyer.

CRITTENDEN'S PHILADELPHIA COMMERCIAL COLLEGE,

N. E. corner of 7th & Chestnut St.,
PHILADELPHIA, PA.

THIS Institution, which was established in 1844, and is now consequently in the eighteenth year of its existence, numbers among its gratuates, hundreds of the most successful Merchants and Business Men, of our Country.

The object of the Institution is solely to afford young men facilities for thorough preparation for business.

The branches taught are, Book-keeping, as applicable to the various departments of trade; Penmanship, both plain and ornamental; Commercial Law, mathematics, Navigation, Civil Engineering, Drawing, Phonography, and Modern Languages.

The system of Instruction is peculiar; no classes or set lessons are made use of, but each student is taught individually, so that he may commence at any time, and attend at whatever hours are most convenient.

Catalogues are issued annually after the 15th of April, containing names of the students for the year, and full particulars of terms, &c., and may be obtained at any time by addressing the Principal.

In extensive accommodations, wide-spread reputation, and the lengthy experience of the Principal, this Institution offers facilities superior to any other in the country, for young men wishing to prepare for business, and to obtain at the same time A DIPLOMA, which will prove a recommendation for them to any Mercantile House.

☞ CRITTENDEN'S Series of Treatises on Book-Keeping, now more widely circulated than any other work on the subject, are for sale at the College.

WASHER, WRINGER and STARCHER Combined! Silver and Bronze Medals, Diplomas, Certificates, Premiums, and Testimonials, have been received from various sources, both Public and Private.

Self-Adjusting and Adjustable! The only Wringer with the Patent Cog-Wheel Regulator, for turning both rolls together and which positively prevents the rolls from breaking or twisting on the shaft. It is not only a perfect Wringer, but the Cog-wheels give it a power which renders it a most Excellent Washer pressing and separating, as it does, the dirt with the water from the clothes, leaving them dryer, whiter, and smoother than when "wrung" by hand. The water can be pressed from large and small articles, easier, quicker, and more thoroughly than by the ordinary, old-fashioned back-breaking, wrist-straining, and clothes destroying process.—The Cog-wheels prevent all "wear and tear" of clothes by the friction of the rolls or breaking of stitches by twisting.

Without Cog-wheels, the whole strain of forcing the cloth through the Machine is put upon the lower roll, and the cloth is made to act in the place of Cog-wheels, to drive the upper roll, causing a much greater strain upon the lower roll than when Cog-wheels, with our Patent Regulator, are used, besides the extra strain upon the cloth. We claim for it the following advantages over any and all Sewing Machines:

Far greater variety of work; beauty and excellence of stitch; speed and quietness of motion; simplicity of construction; ease of operation and management; elegance of design and finish. It will

Stitch, Hem, Fell, Quilt, Bind, Tuck, Plait, Gather, Cord, Braid,
All without any previous basting.

It works equally well on the thinnest or thickest fabrics, from heavy beaver or pilot cloth, to the finest cambric.

FRUIT TREES, GRAPE VINES, &c.

Persons intending planting orchards, gardens, vineyards, or improving their grounds, this coming Spring, are respectfully invited to examine our stock. The trees are strong, from six to eight feet and of the best varieties. Planters in Western Pennsylvania and Ohio will find it to their interest to procure their trees fresh from the Nursery, and the sorts true to name.

Parties coming to the Nurseries to Edgeworth station, on the P. Ft. W. & C. Railway, in the morning trains, can select their own trains, and return in the afternoon. Catalogues sent to applicants,

NEW BARBER-SHOP.

SHAMPOOING, HAIR-DRESSING, AND DYEING, done by JOHN LISTNER, in the Union Hotel, Beaver, who has just opened a Barber Shop, where gentlemen and ladies will receive prompt attention, and satisfaction warranted.

Cupping, bleeding and tooth-extracting also attended to by above named, whose long experience is sufficient guaranty that he understands the business. apr26

A Sweet and Perfumed Breath VERSUS A Bad Breath.

What lady or gentleman would remain under the curse of a disgreeable breath, when by using the BALM OF A 1000 FLOWERS, it could be secured? How many lovers it had separated! How many friends forever parts! The subject is so Delicate, your nearest friend will not mention it: and you are yourself ignorant of the fact. To affect a radical cure, use the Balm as a tooth-wash night and morning.

THE MOST BEAUTIFUL WOMEN of ancient times used honey to beautify their complexion; but the combination with palm oil and other valuable ingredients makes it still more valuable. For bathing suffering infants, a few drops poured into a basin of water will dispel all fever, totter, &c. A few drops poured on your shaving brush makes a beautiful soft lather, leaving the face pure and white.

When used for washing night and morning, it eradicates all Tan, Pimples, and Freckles, rendering the skin soft and white and free from blemish.
